SCHOOL BOARD FILLS VACANCIES WITH MEN

Women Candidates Get Setback in Their Demands for Promotion.

INDICATES FUTURE POLICY

Dr. Wile Declares There Was No Discrimination Between Sexes.

Women candidates for the higher positions on the supervisory staff of the public school system got a setback at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Ed- strike ucation. Four important vacancies were Monday. filled, and men got all the jobs.

The term of Thomas S. O'Brien, an associate superintendent, expires on June 30. The job pays $6,500 and the term is six years. Miss Grace C. Strachan openly avowed her ambition for promotion, and the women principals and teachers backed her. In addition, there were two $5,000 jobs to be filled. These were the principalship of a new high school to be organized in The Bronx and a new high school for girls in Manhattan. A position that was looked upon as peculiarly belonging to a woman was the district superintendency once filled with died in Paris. After her death a year ago John P. Conroy was elected to fill the unexpired term.

Many Women Present.

When the meeting opened yesterday there was a large audience of women in the rear of the hall and in the gallery Secretary Palmer read a letter from the Interberough Association of Women Teachers, asking equal consideration for women and men for the vacancies. There was a telegram from Edella Potter, secretary of the Woman Suffrage Party Study Club, urging a woman for principal of the news girls' high school. These communications were received in silence. A programme had been decided upon by a majority of the members and there was manifest anxiety to have the matter over with.

Frank Wilsey said he nominated William Ettinger, a district superintendent. succeed Thomas S. O'Brien as associate superintendent.

accuracy of the statements made by the Interborough Association of Women Teachers that the women candidates had been passed over without proper "There were five women candidates we gave them unusual consideration." "In fact we passed on their 1898, qualifications early so that they need not be kept out in the evening. We were determined to give justice to all."

Arthur M. Wolfson, first assistant in history in the De Witt Clinton High School for Boys, was nominated for the principalship of the new Manhattan High School for Girls. Dr. Wile moved that the nominations be con firmed, saying that the women's quali fications had been passed on.

Mrs. Kramer Demands Answer.

Mrs, Elia Kramer asked if the qualifications of the women as passed upon were the same as those of the men candidates. "I should hope so," said Dr. Wile.

"But that does not answer my ques tion," went on Mrs. Kramer. "Do you refer to married teachers?" asked Thomas W. Churchill, the chair-the women candidates had as just an examination as the men?" Mrs. Kramer

Dr. Wile said the men candidates showed superior qualifications.

A viva voce vote was taken and there were none but aves for the men. It was said that yesterday's voting was only an indication of what was going to happen to women in the schools. There are two more vacancies among the district superintendents. Seth Stewart died some months ago and Alfred T. Schauffler's term expires June 30. Among the candidates for these places are six women principals. The vacancies will be filled at the next meeting.

Granite Workers' Strike Also feets Grand Central.

The general strike of granite cutters throughout the city for an increase in wages from $4.50 to $5 a day has affected two public school buildings in Bay Ridge and several in Manhattan.

The strike leaders reported last evening that among other buildings involved were the Grand Central Station at large public. the Grand Central Station, a large public building at Howard and Lafayette streets, Columbia College, the Atlantic Trust Com-pany's building and buildings in the Wall Street district.

James J. Sweeney, business agent of the union, said the strike had for a short time fied up the erection of granite work at Bellevue Hospital, but that the con-tractor had made a settlement by granting the advance.

He said the strike would be extended to the quarries in Maine if the employers whose contracts are held up by the strike have their work done in these quarries while the strike is in progress.

Archie Butler, manager of the typewriter supplies department of the Remington Typewriter Company. much credit by Miss Julia Richman, who Broadway, made an affidavit yesterday that the firm had not used before 1900 a certain watermark appearing in a paper on which was written an alleged will dated 1898. As a result of this affidavit there may be indictments for forgery in Shelby county, Tennessee, and F. Bruce Garrett, beneficiary to the extent of $250,000 under the alleged will, may lose his interest in it. The will is a typewritten document one page long and bears three signatures, one of them supposed to be that of Mrs. Caroline Cloth, the testator, and the two others those of the witnesses, one of whom is dead.

When Mrs. Cloth was found dead neighbors learned that she had saved the income of the $200,000 her husband 000,000 in bonds hidden in the clothes presses of her home.

The State of Tennessee would have got the money for school purposes under the law, but relatives, Dr. John Shailer and his sister, and cousins in Bavaria, were found.

Then Bruce Garrett found the alleged will in an old trunk in an attle on his father's farm, which had been sold. He said that Mrs. Cloth had taken a great liking to him in childhood and had promised to leave him some The heirs believed the will to a real one and withdrew a contest

Miles C. Buckingham, business agent for Mrs. Cloth, held the paper to th light. He saw that it was water-marked "W. S. & B. Regent, made in U. S. A." WHITMAN NIPS BRIBE FOR BECKER WITNESS Prosecutor Hears Rumor and Quickly Gets Cooperation of Defence.

BOTH SIDES ARE SILENT

Neither Will Discuss Alleged Plot to Get Man Out of the State.

District Attorney Whitman nipped an attempt yesterday to bribe a State's in the Becker case. Word reached him that a man whose testimony was of great importance in the trial of the former police lieutenant, particularly in identifying the gunmen. had received an offer of a large sum of money to leave the State, or to modify his testimony in case of another trial or if he should be called in the event that Justice Goff held a hearing on the motion for a new trial now before him. Mr. Whitman sent for Joseph A. Shay, counsel for Becker, and for John Becker, brother of Charles Becker. They were with the District Attorney for nearly we hours. It was said that both John Becker and Lawyer Shay offered cooperation in Mr. Whitman's efforts to get to the alleged bribe offerer and it was stated that whatever plans have been made to get witnesses out of the State had been effectually blocked by the District Attorney.

Neither Side Will Talk

Neither District Attorney Whitman nor Mr. Shay would discuss what had been said at the conference. Mr. Shay remarked that they might have been talking about a suit that comes up to-day in the Supreme Court.
